

TRANSITION FROM SCHOOL TO ADULT LIFE

What is in store for youth with disabilities after they leave the school system? Whether your child's disability is mild or more significant, they need to plan for the future. Transition represents the process of moving from the public-school setting into adult services. A transition plan is a required part of a student's IEP and should be developed and in place by their 15th birthday. So it is time to start planning now.
