Drew Dudley:
Everyday
Leadership

Weekly Thought: Everyday Leadership

http://www.ted.com/talks/drew_dudley_everyday_leadership?language=en

If you get a chance, watch the video at the link above. It is our family motto for the month. We are each trying to have as many "lollipop" moments as we can, to counter the notion that leadership is only for certain people.

I think of each of you during this talk, and I think of the leaders that you have become, and the "lollipop" moments that I observe every day coming from your classrooms.

The more we realize that we are powerful beyond measure to influence for good, the more we begin to innovate, take risks, and commit to continual learning and renewal.

I hope you all had a relaxing weekend, and are excited to be back at work. I appreciate each of you.
